Prayer for FAITHFUL CITIZENSHIP

Gracious and loving God,
let your Spirit be with us today.
Hear our prayers,
and increase in us the will to follow your Son Jesus.

Help us to draw on the resources of our faith
as we use the opportunities of our democracy to shape a society more respectful of the life, dignity, and rights of the human person, especially the poor and vulnerable.

We ask this through Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity
of the Holy Spirit,
one God forever and ever.
Amen.

WEEKLY REFLECTIONS

This is an excerpt from "What's the Smoke for?" by Johan Van Parys, pp 70-71.

Dear Johan,

As I was walking through the sacristy I heard someone use the word sacrarium, I had never heard the word. I had to write it down so I could remember. Please tell me what it is.

Gentle Reader -

Wow, not very many people have this word as part of their vocabulary. Congratulations!

The root of the Latin word sacrarium is sacer, meaning sacred. Since ancient Roman times this word has been used to refer to a place where sacred objects are preserved. Roman temples, for example, had a sacrarium.

It is from sacrarium that the English words sacristy and sanctuary are derived. The sacristy is the place where liturgical vessels and vestments are preserved. It is also the place where liturgical ministers prepare themselves for the liturgy. The sanctuary is the area immediately surrounding the altar, often encompassing the ambo and the altar. In older churches, the sanctuary was architecturally delineated from the rest of the church. In more contemporary churches, the sanctuary is less clearly defined, hinting at the fact that the entire building is made sacred by sacred actions that are celebrated in it. As an aside, in some Christian traditions the word sanctuary is used to refer to the entire worship space.

The word sacrarium itself was adopted for liturgical use in English from the Latin for a very specific usage. A sacrarium is a sacred sink in the sacristy. This sink is not an ordinary sink as it cannot drain into the sewer system but rather needs to drain directly into the ground. The basin is exclusively intended for sacred usage.

The linens that are used during the liturgy are cleaned in the sacrarium. This includes the purificators or the linen napkins used to wipe the chalice during Communion and during the purification of the chalice. This also includes the corporal or the linen cloth, which is spread on the altar underneath the chalice and paten.

After the chalices have been purificated, meaning they have been rinsed with water that has been consumed, they can be further rinsed in the sacrarium. Consecrated wine is never to be poured down the sacrarium. Finally, the sacrarium is also used for the proper disposal of blessed ashes, holy water, and oils.

Have a blessed week, Father Shane

RETREAT UPDATE

Last weekend our Year 2 Confirmation candidates from Sacred Heart and St. Gregory were on retreat. One of the activities we did was making communion hosts. This was a great experience for all. Pictured at right is Fr. Shane holding the large host made to use at the retreats closing Mass. With the guidance of the Holy Spirit throughout the week-end many hearts and minds were touched.

Thanks to the many volunteers who gave their time and effort. Thank you to all for your prayers and support and please continue to pray for all students and leaders as they prepare to be confirmed May 14, 2017.
